Product Description

Investing in a constant leverage certificate allows the investor to participate disproportionately in the daily percentage change of the Underlying by applying constant leverage. Disproportionately high profits are possible due to the leverage effect, but this can also entail disproportionately high losses, particularly if an adjustment event (Intraday Adjustment) occurs. Such an adjustment event occurs when the Observation Price reaches or falls below the Adjustment Threshold (for Long Constant Leverage Certificates) or exceeds it (for Short Constant Leverage Certificates). Total loss of the invested capital cannot be excluded. Constant Leverage Certificates have no fixed term (open end), however, they can be exercised by the investor or terminated by the Issuer.

REDEMPTION
Redemption Amount	For each exercised or terminated Constant Leverage Certificate, an amount is repaid to the investor which corresponds to the Capital Value on the Valuation Date, possibly converted into the Issue Currency and multiplied by the Conversion Ratio. The Capital Value refers to the Initial Capital Value on the Issue Date and subsequently to the value calculated on each Capital Value Calculation Date [t] as at the Capital Value Calculation Time, depending on the previously determined Capital Value according to the following formula, subject to Intraday Adjustments: Capital Value [t] = Max. (Leverage Component [t] – Financing Component [t]; 0) where: Leverage Component [t] = Capital Value [t-1] × (1 + Factor × Underlying's Performance [t]) and Financing Component [t] = Capital Value [t-1] × ((Factor – 1) × r[t-1] – Factor × CFR [t]) × n / 360 with: Underlying's Performance [t] = (Underlying [t] + Div [t]) / Underlying [t-1] – 1 Underlying [t]: Reference Price of the Underlying as at the Capital Value Calculation Time t. Underlying [t-1]: Reference Price of the Underlying as at the Capital Value Calculation Time t-1. The Underlying [t=0] corresponds to the Price Level of the Underlying on the Initial Fixing Date. CFR [t]: Calculation Fee Rate as at the Capital Value Calculation Time t. Div [t]: Dividend adjustment amount based on the Capital Value Calculation Date t. Factor: Leverage (Factor). Capital Value [t]: Capital Value on the Capital Value Calculation Date t as at the Capital Value Calculation Time. Capital Value [t-1]: Capital Value on Capital Value Calculation Date t-1, which immediately precedes the current Capital Value Calculation Date t; Capital Value [0] corresponds to the Initial Capital Value. n: Number of calendar days between the Capital Value Calculation Date t-1 (exclusive) and the Capital Value Calculation Date t (inclusive). r[t-1]: The money market interest rate for overnight loans in the base currency on the Capital Value Calculation Date t-1, determined by the Calculation Agent at its reasonable discretion as the reference interest rate. The value resulting from the calculation of the Redemption Amount is rounded up or down to two decimal places according to standard business practice.
Valuation Date	The Valuation Date is a) the Exercise Date in the case of effective exercise by the investor; b) the Termination Date in the case of termination by the Issuer.
Capital Value Calculation Date	Every exchange business day, except Saturday and Sunday, on which there is no Price Event. The following days are not Capital Value Calculation Dates in any year: New Year's Day (1 January), Good Friday, Easter Monday, European Labour Day (1 May), Christmas Eve (24 December), Christmas Day (25 December), Boxing Day (26 December), New Year's Eve (31 December). If there is no Price Level on an exchange business day or if the exchange business day is a disruption day, then this day is not considered a Capital Value Calculation Date, including retrospectively if relevant.
Capital Value Calculation Time	The point in time immediately after the determination and publication of the Reference Price.
Reference Price	The Price Level on a Capital Value Calculation Date.
Price Level	The closing price of the Underlying as determined and published by the Reference Agent.
Intraday Adjustment	If an Observation Price reaches or exceeds the Adjustment Threshold, an extraordinary calculation of the Capital Value [t] takes place intraday. In this case, an Adjustment Price is determined according to the definition below and an adjusted Capital Value [t] is calculated. For the first Intraday Adjustment related to the Observation Period, Underlying [t] is replaced by the Adjustment Price. No additional interest or costs are incurred (i.e., the Financing Component [t] equals 0 (zero)). For the second and each subsequent Intraday Adjustment related to the Observation Period, Capital Value [t-1] is additionally replaced by the adjusted Capital Value [t] and the Underlying [t-1] using the Adjustment Price determined in the immediately preceding Intraday Adjustment. Any dividend adjustment amount to be taken into account in the first Intraday Adjustment corresponds to 0 (zero) in the second and every subsequent Intraday Adjustment with respect to the Observation Period.
Underlying Price	The price of the Underlying as determined and published by the Reference Agent.
Adjustment Price	The Underlying Price determined by the Calculation Agent at its reasonable discretion, taking into account quotations at or from the Reference Agent and taking into account hedging transactions within the Adjustment Period after the Adjustment Threshold has first been reached or exceeded.
Adjustment Period	A time period of 10 minutes referring to the continuous trading. This means that a possible auction period at the Reference Agent (as provided for in the Reference Agent's rules) is not considered part of the corresponding Adjustment Period, however, the price of the Underlying determined in the auction is considered a possible Adjustment Price.

Adjustment Threshold	The Adjustment Threshold is recalculated after each calculation of the Capital Value (including Intraday Adjustments of the Capital Value) according to the following formula: (1 + Adjustment Buffer) × (Underlying [t-1] - Div [t]) In the case of one or more Intraday Adjustments to the Capital Value [t], the Underlying [t-1] is replaced by the respective Adjustment Price and the dividend adjustment amount is not taken into account again (i.e., Div [t] equals 0).
Adjustment Buffer	10.00%
Observation Price	Each Underlying Price determined within the Observation Period.
Observation Period	The period between each Capital Value Calculation Time (inclusive) and the immediately following Capital Value Calculation Time. The first Observation Period begins on the Initial Fixing Date immediately after the Price Level has been set. The first and each subsequent Observation Period ends with the determination of the Reference Price (inclusive).
Price Event	The price loss of the Underlying on an exchange business day reaching or falling below the Price Threshold constitutes a Price Event. The price loss of the Underlying on an exchange business day is calculated from the lowest Underlying Price, determined between the time of the determination of the Price Level on that exchange business day and the time of the determination of the immediately preceding Price Level, divided by the immediately preceding Price Level, minus 1. If at least one Intraday Adjustment took place on this exchange business day, the price loss of the Underlying is calculated from the lowest Underlying Price, determined between the time of the determination of the immediately following Price Level and the time of the last Intraday Adjustment of the Capital Value[t], divided by the last determined Adjustment Price, minus 1.
Price Threshold	-15.00%
Investor's Exercise Right	The holder is entitled to exercise their Constant Leverage Certificates from the first Exercise Date in accordance with the applicable conditions and to demand payment of a corresponding Redemption Amount.
Exercise Period / Exercise Declaration	On the Exercise Date by 10:00 AM (Zurich local time), a) the exercise declaration must arrive at the Paying Agent and b) the products must be delivered to the Paying Agent's account with the clearing system, otherwise the exercise will not become effective before the next Exercise Date.
Issuer Termination Right	The Issuer is entitled to terminate the securities in their entirety, but not in part, on any Termination Date following the Issue Date with a notice of one business day.

SIGNIFICANT RISKS

Prospective Investors should ensure that they fully understand the nature of this Product and the extent of their exposure to risks and they should consider the suitability of this Product as an investment in the light of their own circumstances and financial condition. Products involve a high degree of risk, including the potential risk of expiring worthless. Potential Investors should be prepared in certain circumstances to sustain a total loss of the capital invested to purchase this Product as well as the transaction costs. Prospective Investors shall consider the following important risk factors and read the section "Risk Factors" of the Programme for details on all other risk factors to be considered.

The terms and conditions of the Product may be subject to adjustments during the lifetime of the Product as set out in the Programme.

Product Specific Risks: To the extent that this Product is not capital protected, investors may lose some or all of their investment as well as the transaction costs as they are fully exposed to the performance of the Underlyings. The Product does not confer any claim to receive rights and/or payments of the Underlying, such as dividend payments, unless explicitly stated in the documentation governing the Product. Please refer to the Product Documentation as regards the further Product specific risk factors to be taken into account.

Issuer Risk: Investors are exposed to the credit risk of the Issuer. If the Issuer is not able to make a payment or becomes insolvent, investors could lose some or all of their investment.

Market Risk: Market risk may have a negative impact on the value of and the return on an investment in the Product. Market risk is the risk associated with the effect of changes in market factors such as interest and foreign exchange rates, equity and commodity prices, credit spreads or implied volatilities, on the value of assets and liabilities held for both the short and long term. Market risk may also lead to an early redemption of the Product (e.g. in the event of a hedging disruption).

Liquidity Risk: The Issuer or, as the case may be, the guarantor or a third party appointed by the Issuer or guarantor, if any, intends to act as market maker in relation to the Product and it will use commercially reasonable efforts to provide indicative bid and offer prices for the Product on a regular basis under normal market conditions. However, such market maker does not have an obligation to provide prices for the Product. Liquidity of the Product in the secondary market may be limited and an active trading market for the Product may not develop. Accordingly, investors may not be able to sell their Product.

Currency Risk: If the investor's reference currency is different from the currency, in which the Product is denominated, the investor bears the currency risk between the two currencies. The fluctuations in exchange rates could have an adverse effect on the value of or return on an investment in the Product, even if the redemption amount would otherwise provide for a positive return. If the Underlyings are calculated in a currency different from the Currency of the Product, the conversion into the Currency of the Product will be carried out at the relevant exchange rate.

Early Termination and Reinvestment Risk: The Product may be redeemed prior to its maturity (be it by declaration of the issuer or as a result of certain events specified in the terms of the Product) and investors must consider that in case of such an early redemption, the early redemption amount may be significantly below the issue / purchase price paid and the redemption amount payable at maturity. Investors may not be able to reinvest the early redemption amount in a financial instrument with the same profit potential and additional transaction costs may be incurred as a consequence of a reinvestment of the early redemption amount.

Illiquidity of Underlying: One or, if applicable, more of the Underlyings might be or become illiquid over the lifetime of the Product. Illiquidity of an Underlying might lead to larger bid/offer spreads of the Product and/or to an extended time period for buying and/or selling the Underlying respective to acquire, unwind or dispose of the hedging transaction(s) or asset(s) or to realise, recover or remit the proceeds of such hedging transaction(s) or asset(s) which might implicate a postponed redemption or delivery and/or a modified redemption amount, as reasonably determined by the Calculation Agent.
